

For the defence several witnesses were called to discredit the testimony of the prosecutrix, whose evidence on their respective cross-examinations exhibited a number of inconsistent and contradictory statements on collateral matters. The prisoner received an excellent character. After an energetic reply on behalf of the prosecution by Mr. KEATING, the learned Judge summed up the evidence with great minuteness, when the jury retired to consider their verdict. On their return into court, after an absence of two hours, the foreman announced a verdict of Not Guilty.

 185, belonging to Mr. Fisher, of 80, Lisson Grove, was charged with the following gross extortion on Mrs. James, a lady residing in Mableton-place, Regent's-park.
 The lady engaged the defendant to convey her from Mableton-place to Mableton-square, a distance hardly exceeding two miles. It was on Thursday night, the 21st, when the fog was so dense, and the prisoner hired a link-boy; but this fellow, instead of holding the links before the vehicle, sat on the cab with the driver, and the links went behind it. The link-boy, however, did not know the way, and the prisoner, on Thursday night, the 21st, King's-road, Regent's-park, was arrested.
